Education First FCU had a choice to make for their new financial headquarters: Purchase a building to renovate, or construct a new one? NewGround investigated the cost implications of both options, allowing Education First to settle on securing a new site in Beaumont, TX. The building itself needed to function as a tech-forward space and as a recruiting tool. From a multi-purpose employee lounge to modern collaboration spaces equipped with the latest technology in digital displays, NewGround was able to help design a financial headquarters for Education First that will serve their needs for a long time to come.

Additionally, NewGround has updated Education First Credit Union's branch system with technology and consistent branding.
