HAWAII KAI, HI

TENANT IMPROVEMENT | BRANCH TRANSFORMATION

Hawaii State Federal Credit Union (FCU) wanted to modernize their branches with a clean, fresh, vibrant look and the latest technological innovations. NewGround's reputation in the state made it the obvious choice.

The design/build of the new branches focused on creating a more open feel without sacrificing privacy. This included incorporating a low profile "cash bar" with universal bankers, a new floor layout, and plenty of natural light in each office using modular walls and lighting controls. These also made the space more energy efficient. In 2017, the bank was presented with the prestigious Design Award from The Building Industry Association of Hawaii.

Newground transforms financial institutions and corporations into immersive experiences that generate measurable return on investment. We have deep expertise in creating the branches of the future and flagship headquarters that deliver on the promise of leading financial and corporate brands. Our research gives us the insights to solve pressing challenges and develop a holistic understanding of the connections between design, business, and human experience.
